1. Carefully remove all parts from the box. Place on a clean, soft surface.
2. Remove strap from the ceiling rose by unscrewing the supplied fixing screws.
3. Install the strap to the ceiling, central to the final position of the light, ensuring the fixings and the ceiling can support the weight of the pendant.
4. Check the final hanging height of the light before moving to the next steps. If the cable needs to be shortened, loosen Cord grip (2) by unscrewing the tapered cover.
5. Pull the cable through the ceiling rose to the length needed, then leave 80mm length excess in the ceiling rose before cutting the cable.
6. This step must be carried out by the qualified electrician. Tape 50mm down the newly cut cable and with a sharp knife or cable cutter. Carefully cut the braid and the first layer of insulation to expose two individually coloured and insulated cables. Do not cut through the coloured insulation. If any copper strands can be seen do not connect to the mains.
7. Once the cable is the correct length, proceed to make a safe connection to the mains cable.
8. Raise the pendant up to the ceiling straps and secure the ceiling rose in place by screwing it to the strap with the screws provided.
